Smith, Mrs. Leadbeater and Miss Eliza Miller, who still bave charge of the mission holding it as a sacred trust from those holy saints who have finished the race and now wear the crown, leaving us a noble example that we should follow their steps. The object of this mission was to help carry out the plan of the great Teacher who revolution ized the world when he said "And to the poor, the Gospel is preached." J. R. WOOD, G. P. A. CHAS. E. PUGH, G. M. no longer with us. The annual list of mem bers is from 75 to 100, averaging a weekly attendance of 55. The first three years, beside the religious instruction, the ladies, through donations of money and material, bought goods and sold to the members at nominal prices, but it was found that this was not a needed branch of the work as in larger cities, so the meetings were made en tirely devotional, lasting one and one-half hours, the first half hour devoted to the library, then a short service arranged from the prayer-book, singing and a portion of cheapest family journal in the United States. The Poming year promises to be crowded with stirring events. In the United States the entrance of new issues into the political arena has been followed by a change of administration. But the great economic question on which the campaign turned is still unsettled, and its solution is now committed to a Congress almost equally divided between Holy Scripture read and explained and always some interesting book read aloud, the ladies never more happy than when they could create a merry laugh. Abundant has been the proof that the work for souls was not in vain by the altered lives and reformed homes of many; not only of those re-maining with us, but those who have the two great parties.

Europe is a vast-camp. Army corps patrol the frontiers, and millions of men await the signal for the most titanic war the world has ever seen.

The Herald's news-gathering machinery is unequalled. Its correspondents dot the habitable globe. Nothing can escape their vigilance, and no expense is spared in spreading the results of their efforts before the Herald's readers.

All the news of America will be found each week in the Herald, while its foreign department will contain a panorams of the Old World, flashed under the sea over the Commercial cables. gone out from us have carried the knowledge of a Saviour's forgiving love and often we hear of them rejoicing, thanking God and blessing others for the influence of the mission. Said one, in dying, whose new life for years proved her sincerity, "She took my feet out of the mire and clay and set them upon the rock." Another, "I'm in great misery, but I just lie here thinking of all the precious things told us at the mis-sion." And another said: "You do not know the hungry souls you are feeding. fering, the dying, the testimony to the work The library was soon added, and now numbers 250 volumes. Many have been the friends of the mission both here and elsewhere, who by donations of money, books and sympathy have helped on the work that has been quietly and unostentatiously carried on for twenty years, bearing fruit to the glory of God. To vary the character of the meetings some little Christmas remembrance is al-ways presented by the ladies, and at Easter the annual tea party is held, when all try to be present. Three events have made "red letter days" in the history of the mission; once a trip to Malvern (the home of Bishop Johns) in strawberry season, when the roses, too, were in perfection, and who can forget the joy of old and young as they wandered over garden and fields in the sweet spring over garden and fields in the sweet spring air gathering flowers, or when they collected on the portico in view of the river and listened to Rev. Dr. Suter as he told them of the "green pastures and still waters by which God leads His own," of the "unfading flowers in the better land," of "the water of the river of life, that flows by the throne of God." Again, when Mrs. and Miss Coles, of Philadelphia (friends of Miss Johns) took we all (S4) to Mannt Varion, where POETING GOODS, GUNS, &c.—We have a full stock of Paper Shells, Guns, Primers, Wads, &c., to which we invite the attention of the pub-Prices low and goods first-class.

This closes the record of the twenty years of the mission, but there is a record on high, known only to Him in moon last at the 20th anniversary of the whose name and for whose sake this work Mother's Mission of Christ Church. One is done. I conclusion I must add a word for those who began and carried on this work. Of Mrs. Yeaton and her sweet, gentle influonce as well as her ac ive usefulness in mission, much can be said. She was loved and appreciated by all, but her work was soon ended, for the mester she served called her early from the labor in the church militant to 'the r st that remains th for the people of God," but she left behind an example worthy of imitation. Of Miss Johns, it is needless to tell how she stood here year by year, as long as her strength lasted (and then by letter and earnest prayer) she plead with each and all to repent and believe, and she told them of few of the young girl friends of the mission.

We were so much graffied by what we learned of the work that we have requested you know how she went into your homes the publication of its report: The Mother's and by the bedeide of the sick and dying taught you that though you were great sin-ners, you had a greater Saviour, and her prayer was that "Christ might be formed in you." The same can be said of Mrs. Lloyd, whose bright face brought sunshine to every heart, for her consecrated life was freely apent in the Master's service. The rare magnetism of her nature and ready sympa-thy made her one to be loved and trusted by pastor, friend and mission.

Miss Eliza and Miss Ellen Jack-on were most active and important helpers in the work in every way, and will ever be remembered by their gentle words and faith ful ministrations to the sick and needy. Miss Miller, having removed from towe, has severed her connection with the Mission after 14 years of faithful service, but still feels and proves her interest. And now a word of encouragement for those who are still at work. May the past stimus late us in the future to more earnest endeaver to win souls with a fuller reliance on God's help, remembering that 'Inasmuch as ye have done it unto one of the least of these, ye have done it unto me."
